

An Introduction to

End of year tax planning

Getting to grips with the basics

---

Your main tax planning opportunities

---

Your pension, ISAs, IHT and CGT

---

Using your Dividend Allowance

---

Don't miss the tax year-end deadline

---

We're here to help

As the end of the tax year approaches, now is the perfect time to ensure you have your financial affairs in order and to double check that you've taken advantage of all the tax-efficient allowances available to you.

Here's a reminder of the main tax planning opportunities:

Pensions

current Annual Allowance of £40,000

Individual Savings Accounts (ISAs)

maximum contribution of £20,000 each

Junior Individual Savings Accounts (JISAs)

maximum contribution of £4,260 per child

Gifting for Inheritance Tax (IHT) purposes

up to £3,000 a year

Using Capital Gains Tax (CGT) allowances

£11,700 annual exemption per person

Your pension

You can contribute as much as you like into your pension, but there is a limit on the amount of tax relief you will receive each year.

This annual allowance is currently £40,000, or 100% of your earnings, whichever is lower. You can, however, carry forward unused allowances from the past three years, provided you were a pension scheme member during those years. There are a couple of exceptions to this rule. One relates to people with defined contribution pensions who start to draw money from them, in which case the allowance drops to £4,000 in some situations; the allowance may be affected by tapering if income exceeds £110,000.

A Lifetime Allowance also places a limit on the amount you can hold across all your pension funds without having to pay extra tax when you withdraw money. This limit is currently £1,030,000, increasing by £25,000 to £1,055,000 from 6 April 2019.

If you have children under 18, a spouse who does not work, or who may not be earning enough to pay Income Tax, you can invest into a pension for each of them. The maximum annual contribution you can currently make is £2,880 which, along with tax relief, would amount to £3,600 a year.

Your Individual Savings Account (ISA) allowance

The ISA allowance is now a generous £20,000 for the 2018-19 and 2019-20 tax years. You can put all the £20,000 into a Cash ISA, or invest the whole amount into a Stocks and Shares ISA or Innovative Finance ISA. You can also mix and match, putting some into Cash, some into Stocks and Shares and the rest into Innovative Finance if you wish. However, the combined amount can't exceed your annual ISA allowance. With pension contributions subject to annual and lifetime limits, ISAs represent an excellent way of topping up retirement income. There is no Income Tax or CGT payable on ISA proceeds. You cannot carry over your ISA allowance once the tax year has ended.

In certain circumstances, investors can use existing holdings to open or top up their ISAs, this arrangement is known as a Bed & ISA. This is a way of transferring assets held outside an ISA into an ISA so that future investment income and growth are sheltered from tax. The investments are sold, cash is transferred into the ISA and the investments are repurchased. Charges apply and you could end up with a CGT liability if the gain you make on selling the asset together with any other taxable gains you make within the tax year exceeds the annual CGT allowance.

Other ISA options available include the Help-to-Buy ISA and the Lifetime ISA.

Junior ISA Contributions

Junior ISAs are a tax-efficient way to build up savings for your children (and grandchildren) and can be opened for any child under 18 living in the UK. The money can be held in Cash and / or invested in Stocks and Shares.

They work in exactly the same way as your own ISA, however, the maximum investment is £4,260 per child. This allowance will be uprated in line with CPI to £4,368 from 6 April 2019.

If your child already has a Child Trust Fund, then you should look to fully fund this. The allowance is the same as the JISA but corresponds to your child's birthday year rather than the tax year.

Gifts for Inheritance Tax (IHT) purposes

You can give away gifts worth up to £3,000 in each tax year. These gifts will be exempt from IHT on your death. You can carry forward any unused part of the £3,000 exemption to the following year but if you don't use it in that year, the exemption will expire.

Certain gifts don't use up this annual exemption, however, there is still no IHT due on them e.g. wedding gifts of up to £5,000 for a child, £2,500 for a grandchild (or great grandchild) and £1,000 to anyone else. Individual gifts worth up to £250 are also IHT free.

These are relatively small sums, but you should use these up where possible to gradually reduce your overall estate.

Using your Capital Gains Tax (CGT) allowance

Every individual is entitled to a CGT annual exemption which is currently £11,700 (£5,850 for trusts) and will increase to £12,000 (£6,000 for trusts) from 6 April 2019. You can't carry forward this relief and so you may look to crystallise gains up to this amount before the end of the tax year. Capital losses can also be used to offset gains.

Above the CGT exemption, tax is payable at 10% for basic rate tax-payers and 20% for higher rate tax payers. The taxable gains on residential property are taxed at 18% and 28% respectively.

Spouses have two annual exemptions between them and can take advantage of the rules allowing assets to be gifted with no CGT implication until the asset is subsequently disposed of.

From 6 April 2018 the Dividend Allowance was reduced

For the current tax year, investors can earn up to £2,000 in dividend income tax-free, reduced from £5,000 on 6/4/18. The reduction affected individuals with non-ISA dividend income in excess of £2,000. The government estimate two thirds of people with dividend income were not affected, but of the 2.27 million individuals who were, an average loss of around £315 in tax year 2018-19 was estimated.

Since the new rules surrounding taxation of dividends came into effect in April 2016, dividends in excess of the allowance are subject to new tax rates – basic rate 7.5%, higher rate 32.5% and 38.1% for additional rate. The whole concept was introduced to incentivise more people to reinvest their dividend income and to deter tax-minimising strategies.

Among those hardest hit were small business owners. The reform in 2016 and imminent further reduction in the allowance have placed a significant impact on these owners who are basic-rate taxpayers and take a large portion of their annual remuneration as dividends.

We're here to help

With the tax year-end imminent, please get in touch with us as soon as possible if you have any questions or want to discuss any aspect of your end of year tax planning. We look forward to hearing from you.

Tax year-end deadline 5th April 2019

Warning statement

The value of investments and income from them may go down. You may not get back the original amount invested. A pension is a long-term investment. The fund value may fluctuate and can go down. Your eventual income may depend on the size of the fund at retirement, future interest rates and tax legislation. It is important to take professional advice before making any decision relating to your personal finances. Information within this document is based on our current understanding and can be subject to change without notice and the accuracy and completeness of the information cannot be guaranteed. It does not provide individual tailored investment advice and is for guidance only. Some rules may vary in different parts of the UK. We cannot assume legal liability for any errors or omissions it might contain. Levels and bases of, and reliefs from taxation are those currently applying or proposed and are subject to change; their value depends on the individual circumstances of the investor. No part of this document may be reproduced in any manner without prior permission. Information is based on our understanding of taxation legislation and regulations. Tax treatment is based on individual circumstances and may be subject to change in the future.